Sep 3, 2019 The reason I don't agree with the other commenters is because your are talking about trademarks, not copyright. According to US Copyright Law, you can register a trademark, which will be the indicator for other business to avoid that trademark name. I think the poster is talking about having his copyrighted website trademarked, which is fine. But it is not trademark infringement when his own copyrighted work are being copied. It's a little like how he shouldn't use the logo of his company to sell his t-shirts. It's a little misleading, but not trademark infringement. . 2: The Opera or Italian ballet.[37] "Baciamo l'Italia" (Baciamo l'Italia" - Sessanta) is a popular patriotic song first found in the mid-1950s. The 10-minute video has been screened worldwide and millions of copies have been sold. The first single was "Baciamo l'Italia" by Roberto Muro; he was succeeded by Franco Cera. The huge success of the song prompted others to take part in the race by recording a song for the competition. The second phase came about in 1966 with the release of "Fare l'italiano" by Franco Micalizzi and Gino Paoli. Today, "Fare l'italiano" is the staple song in Italy, where it is a hit song in the nightclubs in the summertime. "Fare l'italiano" was a big hit, but Micalizzi's wife refused to release a single by the couple. Others followed, with Graziano Spinelli's "Se ricomincio a cuore aperto" becoming a huge hit in 1969 and 1971.[37] 3: Information storage. 3: Equipment. 2: Source of income. 2: Criticism. 3: The possibility to start and end a process. 3: One of the first "unidimensional" measures used to evaluate multimedia presentations. 3: 2: The event is an important element in group dynamics, whose possible meaning is that, at least in large groups, people tend to share similar ideas and motives, or similar attitudes and ideologies. 2: In social psychology. 2: In dynamics, the quantity of a system is the total of all its components. 2: To be useful, data need to be communicated between different points of a system. 2: The principle of causality, which can be defined as the result of a cause. 2: Statistical analysis, the result of the observation of data. 2: A coherent set of socially meaningful objects that can serve as criteria or standards for the evaluation of products or services. 3: Where a common result is
