Introducing “HyperMotion Technology” FIFA’s “HyperMotion Technology” is a breakthrough in sports simulation that seamlessly blends real-life player movement and animation with detailed player controls. The technology takes the most accurate data possible from a real player at a real football pitch with real players performing real actions for the most authentic and lifelike video game play experience. For more information on FIFA’s new “HyperMotion Technology,” you can read our exclusive debut of the game. FIFA 22’s story mode is playable in-season - for the first time ever - with the introduction of the Premier League. The team is united and focused and there is a real buzz about the club that feels authentic and realistic. Can your club take its first steps up the English football ladder? Discover new locations by visiting iconic Premier League venues like Wembley Stadium, Old Trafford and Stamford Bridge. Throw yourself into the action with the match day experience, improving your team, managing players and creating challenges in-game as the Premier League season unfolds. The experience will be brought to life with a host of new clubs, leagues and competitions. In-game, the team atmosphere and belief in the manager now comes through and helps drive your performance, both on the field and off. The most complete season In FIFA 21, the game engine first introduced the gameplay engine known as the “Physics Engine” - a stunning, revolutionary feature that allows players to feel the weight and impact of every in-game collision and behaviour. This gave players the feeling of knowing the ball was going to reach the end of the field with the accuracy and realism they would expect from the real game. FIFA 21 was a ground-breaking game, making history in football simulation, with the “Physics Engine” - the first time players have truly felt the weight and intensity of every player and ball interaction. Now, FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology” (HM), a breakthrough in sports simulation that seamlessly blends real-life player movement and animation with detailed player controls. The game engine combines data from 22 players performing real actions on a real football pitch for a complete high-intensity football match. Real-life player motion captures the unique characteristics of football, showing players’ weight, force, acceleration and collisions in-game. The technology is bringing first-person football simulation to life. You will feel weight, speed and
