Books, Mystery & Thrillers, Cooking, Comics & Graphic Novels, Romance,Â .David Wells (American writer) David Wells (born October 7, 1954) is an American author and journalist. He is a contributor to The Atlantic, Commentary, and other publications and wrote the television biographies of Rebecca De Mornay, George Hamilton and William Shatner. Wells began his journalism career writing for the New York Daily News and the Village Voice, and worked for seven years as a news writer and producer for the CBS news show the CBS Morning News. He is the author of The Myth of Sisyphus: Contemplating the Meaning and Morality of Life (Simon & Schuster, 2001), and a playwright whose work has been staged in New York City and San Francisco. Biography Wells was born in New York City, and is a graduate of the Bronx High School of Science. Career Wells became a journalist while a student at New York University. Upon graduation he worked as a reporter for the Village Voice and as a writer for the Daily News. In 1988, he joined CBS News as a writer and producer, working on the newsmagazine show, America Tonight. From 1992 to 1998, he was the producer and correspondent on the CBS newsmagazine program the CBS Morning News. In his book The Myth of Sisyphus, Wells notes that he was asked by his supervisor to conduct a survey of news viewers; the result found that many news viewers were watching the show because "Sisyphus was on". In 1999, he became an associate producer at CBS News and continued in this capacity until his departure from CBS in 2002.
