After years of neglect, the prison guards decide to give some inmates a real hard time and arrange a hockey game between them. In this game, there is no such thing as rules, and the goal is to score as many goals as possible in the opponent's goal. You can hit and even kill the opponent's player by trapping him in the net of the goal. Curvature-insensitive ring-like resonator. A curvature-insensitive resonator, which maintains an orientation-invariant mode profile even in the presence of a large-scale curvature, is constructed by utilizing all-dielectric multilayers. It is shown that when a substrate is well attached to a dielectric, the propagation constant of the waveguide mode is unchanged in the low-index substrate-cladding-air-cladding sequence. However, when an opposite-oriented multilayer is placed on top of the substrate, the resultant waveguide mode has its propagation constant changed by almost one-half in the low-index substrate-multilayer-cladding-air-cladding sequence.

Community and politicised responses to (absent) mental illness in Zimbabwe. The absence of mental illness and mental health services from the health policy agenda in Zimbabwe is a major barrier to efforts to improve the mental health of the population. However, an upsurge in a popular politics of mental health recently highlighted the connection between mental health and politics in Zimbabwe. The author examines how mental illness is portrayed in public discourse, in the media and in the popular literature and, more specifically, what political concerns are germane to mental health in Zimbabwe. He explains how the new attention to mental health may have political implications for Zimbabwe, including the possibilities for progress in mental health reform.

To be quite honest, I never thought I'd call a coat from H&M a "heroine coat" but this technically qualifies as a hero coat. It's so soft, it's super-light, and it's very fashionable (hint hint!) This coat is my kind of hero. It's a great layering piece and I'll use it for everything from a long post-season jog to a trip to the grocery store to a trip to a music festival — when I'm not going to a party with my girls

RA Again, instead of including cards in this pack that are the same stats as the others (such as the init cards), we've decided to go for cards that represent its military and just so that all the nations have their own extra unique unit!

Introduction The goal of Wargame: Red Dragon is to create a realistic wargame of the Red Dragon Era of Chinese history. The scope is not about accuracy, but rather about presentation. For that reason, some dates are more or less accurate for the world that the new era discovered in the Red Dragon China is an established one. The first attempt was Wargame: China, which was intended to be an accurate representation of the 3 Kingdoms period. This was a game that set in no real world, but rather a secondary timeline, and only had Chinese stats. Because of this, the game suffered greatly in popularity, and its release didn't do well. With this in mind, the assumption was made to start something new, but still accurately reflect this era. This is where Wargame: Red Dragon comes in! The goal is still to have a wargame that is comparable in terms of presentation and gameplay to the Civilization series, but with a focus on being more accurate. This is the first attempt at a wargame that is more realistic and playable, and the first time the Chinese nation has been introduced. So, why Red Dragon? I chose this topic for two main reasons. The first reason is simply because the empire that defeated the other peoples of the world; the bright yellow star on your plastic Federation and Asian States deck. China is, without a doubt, the most powerful of them all. This means that it deserves to be the center of the wargame, and instead of playing European power structures, why not see what was the empire that could be a major threat to nations across the world? The second reason is that I wanted a reason to use the new nation. One of the other nations, the Chinese, had a nation so powerful that it won war after war with the alliance, and now it is time to see what was the strongest empire during the Red Dragon Era. In Europe, the Emperor Hadrian is also powerful, if not even more so than Trajan, and in Asia, so is Qin Shi Huang. From the Chinese perspective, it was important to make it worthy that the empire because
