I have about 300 user accounts that were imported into Azure Active Directory as a collection (rather than individually) using Azure Graph. The directory they were imported from had ~200 user accounts. I then removed those accounts from that directory using the "Users and Groups" admin app. However, when the Azure Active Directory import went through, it only made 300 user accounts with a "linked" relationship to the parent directory. The only ways I can see to "fix" this problem are to either manually add each user from the imported directory to the parent directory's "Users and Groups" admin app, or import the new users as individual users, rather than as a group. The second option is impossible since the directory was imported as a collection, so I'll only get one user per directory. How can I fix this problem? A: Ok, so to clarify: What I would like to do, is import a group of user accounts, that I've already imported into a directory, into a new directory. To do this, you need to export the users from the directory, and import them into the new directory. It appears that the "Export users as CSV" (and "Import users as CSV") tool is only available in the Business directory. However, if you have another directory enabled for B2C users, you can export users as CSV from that directory. But that isn't all. If you're only looking to import a certain user collection (groups of users), you need to Enable the "B2C" directory as a B2C directory Create a business directory under B2C Enable "Create collection of users" under the B2C directory. Then, you need to export the collection of users, and import them into the new directory If you have a single B2C
