The Swift Shader project was created by TransGaming and is maintained by its subsidiary Swifty Developers. Swifty Shader is a cross-platform graphics package compatible with most graphics platforms. The package includes tools for programming, rendering and editing 3D graphics, animation, visual effects, and rendering. The package consists of two parts - a rendering package (Swifty Rendering) and a programming package (Swifty Programming) Swifty Rendering includes tools for working with files, creating and editing scenes, and rendering. To work with scenes, the user can use one of two rendering modules: Swifty3D or Swifty. For each of the modules, tools are provided as part of the main package. The Swifty3D is a graphic editor that allows you to draw both primitive and more complex objects in 3D space. Among the features of the editor - support for particle system, which allows you to create fairly realistic effects. MipMapping technology is used to speed up the work. The editor, according to representatives of the company, will allow architects to quickly create building models. In particular, the program allows you to create buildings that are virtually indistinguishable from existing ones. The user just need to select the desired point on the plan, set the distance to a given point, and then the system will create an object-clone. The program also allows you to create 3D renderings of various objects. Thanks to Drag&Drop function the process of adding, removing and moving elements is facilitated. Other features of the application include support for importing .3dsx, .obj and .dgm files, which makes this software a universal solution for working with many graphics packages. 3Ds Max - a versatile program for 2D 3D graphics, capable of doing complex combinations and rendering 3D models in minimal time. Projects such as Avatar, Star Trek, Shrek, Terminator and many others have been created in this program. All popular 3D graphics developers use 3Ds Max. In this program you can find many plugins and textures. You will be able to create 3D games with full physics and in real time. In this program you will be able to create animation of characters and three-dimensional objects. You will be able in this program to produce visualizations for the film industry and create computer games. This program is appreciated all over the world. The program is very popular also in Russia.
