Assign a color label to a selected image area. Return to the Paint Bucket tool and click once to dissolve the label category from the fill or gradient, or Shift>click again to leave it in place and restore the brushes. Photoshop keeps the original fill or gradient behind the new fill, so you can change the color or style to create the look you want. In addition, the live masks feature lets you paint on layers and watch for where you're painting. The Lasso tool lets you create freeform selections by drawing, while the Magic Wand tool makes quick selections based on color or contour alone.
